

COMBAT ISLAMOPHOBIA WITH KNOWLEDGE

The Central Okanagan Social Studies Teachers' Association, and the School District #23 Social Justice Local Specialist Association, invite you to this unique opportunity to learn more about the Islamic faith, and the refugee experience, in the hopes of combatting Islamophobia with knowledge. In the first part of the session, Hamid Butt will be speaking about the origins of the Islamic faith, its worldview, and how Muslims treat one another. He will also be addressing the topic of Islamophobia. Hamid Butt lives in the Central Okanagan, and has been engaged in multi-faith discussions and providing Islam education sessions to several different organizations.

In the second part of the session, Rahaf Bi will share her story of living in Syria, and immigrating to Canada as a refugee. In the third and final part of the session teachers will be given information about the free resource Voices Into Action, which contains lessons on combatting Islamophobia and other social justice issues.
