

The Olga Lengyel Institute for Holocaust Studies and Human Rights

LESSONS FROM THE PAST: UNDERSTANDING THE HOLOCAUST AND HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS

This intensive professional development seminar, offered in partnership with the Oregon Writing Project, will provide educators with the opportunity to expand their awareness and understanding of the Holocaust and other genocides and human rights violations, especially Japanese-American internment.

Pacific University, Eugene Campus

June 25-30, 2018

Benefits of attending:

- Teachers will collaborate to develop classroom strategies to help their students understand how the past affects the present, find their voices in speaking out for social justice, and envision the wide-reaching impact of their future choices.
- Participants will also explore ways to integrate instruction on racial and ethnic discrimination in Oregon, specifically within the context of the Japanese-American internment during World War Two.
- Learn about film and literature resources and how to integrate them into your curriculum
- Connect Holocaust and human rights curriculum to standards
- Scholarships available for out of area teachers
- Led by experienced educators Carrie McCallum, St. Helens High School, and Robert Hadley, USC Shoah Foundation
